BODY STRESS RELEASE
Unlocking tension - Restoring self-healing

Simon Green - 083 790 5478

1. What is Body Stress?

The BSR Technique

- Client is fully clothed; the practitioner locates sites and lines of tension
- We use the body's bio-feedback mechanism to locate stressed muscles
- Practitioners release the tension by hand with a gentle but precise impulse
- It can have a dramatic affect on the body
- It is a process, not a quick fix: and stimulates self healing over time

What is Body Stress ?

"Body stress results in lines of tension stored in physical structures, as a result of stress overload, which disturbs the normal tone of the body and undermines the efficiency of its nervous or communication system"

Kensington Practice

My practice is located in Derby Road, Kensington and offers a quiet relaxing venue for BSR sessions. Off street secure parking is available and sessions should be booked in advance.

Body Stress Release is a technique for all ages, from babies to the elderly. An initial course of three sessions provides the optimum degree of success for the technique; run on day 1, day 4 and day 11. Sessions typically last between 45 mins to 1 hour depending on client needs.

Rates (per session)

Client Session – R400

Corporate rate – R350 (full day of client bookings ; x8 min)

Retired rate – R300

Children – R100-200 (depending on age/session time)

A range of BSR branded items and posture support cushions is also available. Card or cash is taken as BSR is not covered by medical aid schemes.

Corporate / Event Offering

I also offer on-site services to Corporate clients, events, fairs, and health and wellness event in Gauteng. This service can be extended across South Africa to major urban centers.

BSR ports very well into the workplace as clients remain fully clothed and sessions are typically 30-45 minutes long, so staff can just pop away from their desk for a session.

I offer the following services to corporate clients:

- Information Stand
- Talks and presentations
- Pop-up Practice (on-site BSR Sessions)
- Tailored and long term packages
- Range of posture support cushions

These are offered in a tier of Bronze, Silver and Gold packages ranging from R2,500 to R6,000 for the day, with a range of payment options. Packages can be tailored to client needs and budget.

Note: Body Stress Release is not a diagnosis or treatment of any condition or disease. It is concerned only with locating and releasing stored tension, so that the body is assisted in its in-built ability to maintain and heal itself
